

City Ordinances

Will Be Presented To Council
Monday Night; Public Two Weeks Later

A proposed complete change of the ordinances governing the administrative code of the City of Rockland will be presented to the City Council for consideration next Monday night, and two weeks later will be given a public hearing if passed by the Council in the first reading.

This does not indicate any upheaval in City Government, just the changes required by the charter form of government to bring everything up to date, and give the various departments the required authority and duties. In other words a long delayed task, which in many ways was impossible under the old form.

Departments affected will be the City Manager, finance, fire, health, law, library, police, city clerk public works and public welfare.

Article 204 of the charter provides that such ordinances may be enacted and revised without the laborious task of going before the legislature each time as is the case with other communities of like size in the State.

Each and every proposed ordinance is read in a public meeting of the Council passed by the Council, published together with a notice of public hearing two weeks hence. At the hearing, anyone may question the ordinance as written, and propose changes. Following the hearing, the Council may pass the ordinance as written or make the proposed changes. Should they pass in the face of opposition, that opposition may, by taking the proper steps, force it to referendum vote of the citizens.

Plans are in the making for the publication of the city ordinances as they are enacted. To best accomplish this task, a loose leaf type book may be used which will allow the insertion or change of sheets at will.

Should an ordinance passed today be changed two years from now, it would not necessitate the reprinting of the entire book as the page, or pages containing the text of the new law could be inserted in the same position from which the old had been taken.

All ordinances would start at the top of a right hand page and carry over as many pages as necessary, but never carry to a page containing the following ordinance, which would allow removal without disruption of the other ordinances as fastened in the book.

Several mid-Western cities use this most economical and modern form with marked success.

General Seafoods Announces Plans For Building Plant To Cost In Excess of Million Dollars—Snow Shipyard Deal Recorded This Morning

(By Sid Cullen)

Deeds transferring the ownership of Snow Shipyards, Inc., from local owners and stockholders to General Seafoods Corporation of Boston were filed with the Knox County Registry of Deeds this morning.

President Fred C. Gatcombe of Snow's and President J. Lawrence Alphen of General Seafoods made the announcement jointly this morning at 10.30 to a Courier-Gazette representative.

The yard will be known as General Seafoods Corp. Shipyard Division, Rockland, Maine. The yard will repair and construct vessels of the General Seafoods extensive fleet, including draggers, trawlers and oyster boats as well as other craft. At present the yard has a capacity to construct eight 100 foot trawlers at one time, or four 200 footers, in addition to repair facilities for an unlimited number.

Mr. Alphen announced that present employees of Snow's will be retained and that all employee benefits extended in their other plants will become effective here immediately. These cover retirement, health and accident and other features.

In addition to the shipyard purchase, Mr. Alphen stated that the corporation has bought the Maine Central Railroad wharf, the property next north of it to the line of the Socony Vacuum Oil Co., which gives them title to all land between Socony and Snow's with the exception of the property owned by H. W. Look, on which he maintains a wholesale lobster business.

South of the yard, they have acquired land from the Lawrence Portland Cement Co. which extends to the Owl's Head line and to the rear of the houses bordering on South Main street and the same in the rear of the residential properties on Mechanic street and back to the Snow line.

Engineering is already underway in these areas with the intention of constructing a new pier in place of that bought from the railroad, a fish processing plant and fast freezer on that site and an ice plant and cannery.

It is now planned to start construction of these docks and plants at the earliest possible moment, weather and obtaining of materials being the governing factors. This work should be mostly completed by next Fall as far as outside work is concerned, allowing the Winter months of 1946 and 1947 for completion of the work inside and the installation of machinery.

The plant will open in the Spring of 1947 for full operation, employing in the neighborhood of 600 or 700 persons, including the shipyard, in addition to those employed as crewmen aboard the fishing craft.

Rockland workers will be employed entirely, with the company not intending to bring in any workers to supplant local labor. Mr. Alphen was most emphatic on this point, stating that the corporation wanted to be good neighbors to the people of Rockland and wanted to always maintain the best of relations with the community and its people and their employees.

Temporary facilities may be established soon which will permit the operation of trawlers and the processing of fish while the large plant is under construction. Work is now being carried out on possible arrangements for this plan which may materialize in the Spring.

The corporation operates a fleet of 20 large trawlers, part of which will operate from Rockland. Mr. Alphen expects a fleet of at least 40 trawlers discharging their fares at the plant, many of which will of course be locally owned fishing craft now in operation, others which are now building in local yards and which may be built in the next year and those which will transfer their base of operations from other ports to Rockland.

General Seafoods total investment in Rockland will be in excess of $1,000,000 with possibilities that as time goes on it may increase.

Accounts have been opened in both of the local commercial banks and General Seafoods Corporation is set up as a Rockland business firm, the largest we have, and welcomed by all in a city which now can see a healthy steady growth in the fishing industry, led by a firm with an excellent reputation in business and employer-employee relations as well as their business associations with other local firms in the same line of business.

The comeback of the fishing business in Rockland which Rod Feyler started on Tillson Wharf 15 years ago and which was followed by the establishment of the plant of F. J. O'Hara Sons, Inc., Green Island Packing Company and the allied waste processing firms of Whitmoyer Laboratories and Maine Fish Meal Co., and the large sardine plants of Lafayette Packing Co. and North Lubec Canning & Manufacturing Co. is really rolling and stands to grow considerably in the future.

The City's Welcome

On behalf of the City Council, the entire city government and the people of Rockland, I express my enthusiastic pleasure over the decision of the General Seafoods Corporation to locate in Rockland and to be a part of our business life.

This new industry will certainly be heartily welcomed for what it can do for the business development of the city, and in return I am sure that the General Seafoods Corporation can depend upon the complete co-operation of the city government and the citizens.

Edward C. Moran,
Chairman of the City Council.

The State Chamber

Comments Upon the Matters Which Maine Is Talking About

The January bulletin of the Maine State Chamber of Commerce announces that the Bath Iron Works is soon to start construction of 32 trawlers for French government, the largest of which will be 240 feet in length. The Iron Works first entered the trawler field some years ago when they built the first of the modern trawlers for O'Hara, Usen and Bay State, the first being built in 1929 and the last just before the outbreak of the war.

Super toll highways, and especially the one proposed for Maine from Kittery to Portland is having opposition from interests which believe in free public highways. Other state projects of a similar nature are losing support, most notable is the New York state project which Governor Dewey no longer supports. In Pennsylvania, a Free Roads Association opposes a proposed super highway. The project in New Hampshire, which would extend from the Massachusetts to Maine borders is also receiving opposition.

The Maine project, which was originally thought to cost $13,000,000 is now estimated at $20,000,000 or better.

Persons owning property and operating business establishments along the present Route 1 claim they stand to lose considerably by the building of the new route, and strongly oppose its construction.

The Maine State Chamber of Commerce reports that the returning veterans are not disrupting the labor and business situation in the state. Those who are taking over businesses are largely replacing persons who wished to retire with others merely returning to position they held before the war.

With common laborers demanding and receiving an average of 97 cents per hour in the construction field, there seems to be room for all without displacement of any person now employed.

A Vinalhaven Arrest

Lawrence Orcutt Taken To Schenectady On Charge of Misappropriation

Lawrence C. Orcutt, 47, of Vinalhaven was Wednesday taken by police officers of Schenectady, N. Y., to that city on charges arising from a building contract there with which he was charged with misappropriating funds. Arrested by the town constable of Vinalhaven at the request of Schenectady authorities, he was brought to Rockland and turned over to them at Municipal Court yesterday. He waived extradition and agreed to accompany the officers.

A resident of the New York State city for some years, he is a native of Vinalhaven and has been conducting a carpenter business there. He claimed that he had been advanced the sum of $125 on a contract which totaled $600, to construct a porch and that he had delivered full value to that amount and more before being taken ill and forced to return to his home in Vinalhaven last November.

The unofficial opinion of the court was that the matter might be settled by civil action rather than the charges which had been brought.

What He Intends To Do With Recent Purchase of Colonial Block

The block at the corner of Main and Pleasant streets, known as the Colonial Block, has been purchased by Jack Green, as recently announced in this paper. The property was part of the estate of the late Dr. E. W. Gould and was sold by his widow and a relative, Jesse Ames of Boston.

Mr. Green, who has been a tenant of the block for the past 24 years, intends to convert the second story, which used to be a rooming house, into apartments as soon as materials can be obtained.

One other store in the property is occupied by Glendinning's Market while a small storage building on the Pleasant street side is leased by the operators of the Pleasant Street Bakery.

The intimation, published in this column, that York County was pulling for the proposed super-highway, is referred to by the Bridgton News as another error. The News says:

We weren't aware that everybody in this section of the State was in favor of the proposed toll road, and we don't know as they are against it. It is just a bit too big a mouthful for us to chew not knowing any more about it than we do right now.

Those who heard Mrs. Morrison's discussion last year on "The Dumbarton Oaks Agreement" are looking forward to a subject equally as interesting this year. Mrs. Morrison comes wonderfully qualified as a speaker in her field of Foreign Policy, as her interest in this particular department dates back to her early affiliation with the League of Women Voters in Chicago; she has made an extensive study of National and International affairs and is considered one of the ablest speakers on "Foreign Policy" in the League today.

[EDITORIAL]

AND NOW
RELAX

Starting upon the second century of our existence as a newspaper comes the reaction which follows the publication of a 96-page edition—common enough, perhaps in the nation's largest cities, but admittedly an herculean task for a plant of The Courier-Gazette's size. It was necessary to print the seven sections separately, and this work was begun in October when Section B came off the press. Sections C, D, E, F, and G followed as rapidly as the opportunity would permit, and finally early on Tuesday morning the first eight pages were printed and the edition was complete, and on the news stands fully two hours in advance of the usual time. The success of six months' planning was due not alone to the editor of this paper, nor to its business manager, Mr. Richardson, who with the aid of our reporter Cullen assembled the largest amount of advertising which ever appeared in a single edition of a newspaper in this section of the State, but to every last person of The Courier-Gazette's highly efficient and loyal staff, every member of which manifested a personal pride in giving to the public a paper which it will have cause to remember.

The task is survived by a single regret, and that is that 1000 more papers were not printed, but in October when the first section was printed, and which, of course, was the key to all of the other sections, the paper shortage did not admit of the 9,000 edition originally contemplated. The result was that the first days sales saw the supply alarmingly diminished, and today the holders of copies are cherishing their possession. The distribution of the edition, following close upon the heels of a heavy snowstorm, revealed handicaps which face the hardworking carrier boys in the winter season. Volunteers, who aided in the work with their automobiles were dismayed when they saw the boys wading knee deep in the snow to deliver the paper over unsheathed walks, but the descending sun of Tuesday afternoon saw the work so well accomplished that the subscribers should rise up in praise of the boys who did the job.

Thanking everybody who contributed in any degree to the success of the centennial edition would be an exceedingly difficult task to perform, but let everybody know how deeply we appreciate it, and the thousands of words of approval which have followed the papers appearance. As to our fellow editors who have treated us so generously and kindly, we can only say: Just wait until your turn comes and see if we do not reciprocate.

So long, for another hundred years.

The Gallup Poll shows that the Republicans are holding their own in the mid-west farming sections, and that "the Democrats will have to turn some near-miracles if they expect to walk off with a majority of the mid-West farm votes in 1946 or 1948." Only four farmers in 10 say they would vote Democratic if a Presidential election were held today. In the 1936 election only 44 percent of the mid-West farmers voted the Republican ticket. In 1940 the percentage jumped to 55, in 1944 to 57 and today it is logged at 58 percent. The percentages represent the average for farm sentiment in the combined area of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota and Missouri.

AN EDITOR GIVES HUMAN TOUCH

When the January moon is full and ice is thick and smooth on the Old Mill Pond, one can hear the wholesome shouts of skaters rising into the sub-zero air. Hoofs of laughter mingle with the screams of some skater who, flailing his legs disagreeing about direction, tumbles to the ice with a disconcerting thud. These are the nights when Bobby is allowed to stay up until 9 o'clock to try his first pair of skates. These are nights when Mom and Dad, swinging arm-in-arm down the path of the moon, show the youngsters "how it should be done."

On such nights as these romances start. Johnny, for example, catches the admiring eye of Sally as he cuts a figure eight or a pigeon wing. Or Jimmy finds favor with Suzy because he can skate backwards and tow her along at the same time. There are, of course, the more rugged village lads who look with scorn upon fancy skating and retreat to an isolated section to engage in furious hockey matches.

What of the cold? Skating warns one as no other sport does and if, by chance, fingers are frosted and toes nipped, there always is a bonfire in the lee of the sagging ice house. As evening wanes, shouts die down. Groups of skaters gradually start homeward treks. Soon the pond is left to the moon who beams down very much satisfied with what he's seen. —Christian Science Monitor.

Basketball Battles

Rockland High lost to Gardiner High at the Community Building Tuesday night 37 to 31.

Playing against a vigorous attack the Rockland boys led by McLellan put up a valiant fight to the game's end. With the shooting of McLellan Marsh and Bartlett putting the Rockland boys up to a 31-31 score with three minutes to go in the fourth period.

McLellan's work and shooting in the first period, brought Rockland from way behind, well into the ballgame, and Marsh and Bartlett's shooting did a lot to keep them there a long time. Murgita defensively was very good, as were Holden and Teel.

Gardiner's high scorer was MacDonald, with 19. Rockland's high scorer was McLellan with nine.

The work of Powell, Kaler and Hughes, defensively as well as offensively and the work of Bartlett and Connellan defensively left the Junior High undefeated with 27 victories in a row and made this ball game a pleasure to behold.

A. Bartlett was Rockland's high scorer with 10. Dineen and G. Atkins tied for Gardiner's honors.

J-V Girls Beat Rockport

The Rockland J-V girls, sparked by Jackson (with 8-0-16) rolled over Rockport by a score of 22 to 15.

These girls did very well and promise successful seasons. Prock as a guard was excellent and Ulmer defensively as well as offensively was good. The game proved an exciting one all the way.

Annis of Rockport was high scorer with 9 points.

What'd She Think?

West Rockport Jan. 23. Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

In reading the account of what grandma would think if she should return to Rockland this writer is reminded of what a surprise her mother would get if she should return to the farm she left only 35 years ago.

Who would have thought then that these farms would today be served by the electric power companies? With electric washing machines, refrigerators, farm machinery, bath rooms and all as common in the country as in the city.

What would she think of the radio and planes flying high in the air? What a change in even the last 25 years. We feel that all those who can remember when we did not have these things have missed a lot.

THE WEATHER

Before writing my "scientific" analysis of the weather I always look to see what the almanacs and calendars have to say, and this is what they say this morning: Maine Farmer's "a few days of fine weather; Old Farmer's, "if clear betides good year." And on top of that I hobble to the office over streets that are slipperier than goose grease, and look out of my alley window to see gusts of snow borne on the wings of a hurricane. Now what does all of that "betide?" Oh, yes, the Maine Farmer's reminds us that this is "Corn day." Hulled?

City Manager Fred D. Farnsworth is speaking at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club this noon.

Brunswick's newsy weekly, The Record, devotes extended space to Harvey J. Given, who was 84 years old last week. Besides being a well-known confectioner for a number of years, Mr. Given has been a bank president, a selectman, and has served on many important town committees. He was president of the Topsham-Brunswick Twenty-Five Cents Savings Bank from 1914 to 1931 and served as a director of the old Fidelity Trust Company and the Pelepeot National Bank. After the Fidelity bank liquidated, he was a member of the Home Owners Loan Association which took over the mortgages of the banks, and it was his duty to serve as an appraiser. For eight years between 1903 and 1922, he served as selectman of the towns, and as a committeeman on various projects his life became exceedingly active. Local interest attaches to the Record's fine article due to the fact that Mrs. Given is a former Rockland girl—Rose Wall.

Raymond Cross, former sergeant with the 4th Photo Squadron in the CBI Theatre, showed 16 mm motion pictures which he took on the Burma Road and throughout China during his duty there, at the Knox County Camera Club Tuesday night.

The Dr. Ralph W. Bickford house on Beech street has been sold to Lieut. Commander Isaac L. Hammond, commanding officer of the Coast Guard base here.

Ivan Rackliffe is employed as engineer of the Army tug, LT 136, at the Searsport ammunition depot.

Winslow - Holbrook - Merritt Post American Legion has set Feb. 28 as a tentative date for the ceremony of burning the mortgage on their building.

Knox Lodge T.O.F. will be the guest of Lincoln Lodge of Bath Monday night. The degree team of Knox Lodge will confer the third degree. All members of the team are to meet at the hall by 5:30 as the bus leaves at 5:45.

Program chairman Almon B. Cooper of the Lions Club will present two representatives of General Motors Corporation at the club meeting next Wednesday. Their topic will be "The Pros and Cons of the General Motors Strike." The talk will be accompanied by color motion pictures, showing the plants and strike conditions in them. Local sponsor is the Seaview Garage, sales agents for Chevrolet, a General Motors product.

Margaret S. Simmons, 136 Holmes street, was fined $10 and costs in Municipal Court yesterday on charges of operating a motor vehicle without the proper license. The arrest was made by Patrolman Breen following a minor accident in which the car operated by her was involved with another driven by Robert C. Smith of Pleasant Gardens at the junction of Park street and Broadway.

Rockland Lions

Dr. Lowe Says That Limit Should Be Placed On Unions' Monopolistic Power

Wednesday's meeting of the Rockland Lions Club was enlivened by the presence of that ever popular guest speaker, Dr. John Smith Lowe, and three members of the Camden-Rockport Club—Rev. William E. Berger and the singing Laites, Gilbert and Robert. Another lively feature of the meeting was the distribution of a heaped up bushel of Florida oranges by Lion Nate Beliauskys, who is basking 'neath the eternal sunlit skies of the Everglades State. Nate sent further regards in the form of a note to the Club, calling for assistance (not financial) from two of the oldest members. His two offerings brought laughter and applause.

The Laite brothers sang two duet selections and earned the ovation which they received. Frank H. Ingraham, general chairman of the entertainment committee, named Josh Southard and Fon Russell for the March committee.

Stepping in at the last minute to fill a gap, Dr. Lowe, speaking impromptu, took for his subject, "Snap Shots On Current Domestic Problems." Our epidemic of strikes, he said, in the aftermath of war, was to be expected. (We had one after the last war.

A new factor enters the picture this time in that huge unions can paralyze the industry of the nation thereby placing the welfare of the public in general in peril. One powerful union can call out 750,000 workers in the steel industry and thus threaten the industrial life of the nation with paralysis.

That means monopolistic control over industry. Is it time for Congress to pass legislation designed to prevent such monopolistic control? When great industrial corporations become so powerful they could dominate labor and pile up enormous profits at the expense of the general public, Congress enacted anti-trust laws to restrain the corporations. The labor unions are now in the positions the industrial corporations were when the anti-trust laws were passed.

Some limit should be placed upon their monopolistic power, not legislation to destroy the unions or to restrict legitimate collective bargaining but legislation to limit strikes which imperil the welfare of the nation as a whole.

In 1926 Britain facing a general strike that would have caused untold suffering, with a Labor Government in power, passed the Labor Disputes Act that defined and prohibited illegal strikes. Thus a labor government passed laws to control labor unions and keep them within bounds.

No group should have the power to exercise unlimited control over the national welfare. The speaker went on to say that no amount of restrictive legislation however rigidly enforced will serve to cure the ills of our industrial life. Only good will on the part of all concerned, seeking the welfare of all parties will be sufficient for that.

McLain Parent-Teacher Association meets Monday at 7:30 in the school building. Supt. Robert B. Lunt will speak. "Common Sense in Education" will be the topic discussed by Mrs. Leon Fickett, Mrs. Ralph Clark, Mrs. Alan Grossman, Mrs. John McLoon, Mrs. Edward Lawrence and Mrs. Theodore Bird.

The Navy can accept men between the ages of 17 and 30 for volunteer enlistment, and men who have passed their pre-induction physical examinations and wish to be enlisted in the Navy must apply in person at the nearest Navy Recruiting Station prior to the time they receive final induction. This was announced today by Chief Quartermaster Edward Wietecha, USN, who visits the U. S. Employment Office in Rockland every Thursday and the Post Office in Camden every Friday. The Navy is taking a very small quota through induction at present, therefore a man no longer can volunteer for induction and be guaranteed selection for the Navy. To insure themselves of Navy enlistment men must allow enough time for processing and final enlistment prior to final induction call. Wietecha reports.

A tentative cast has been picked for parts in Alston E. Smith's production, of the Raw Peterson play by Anne Weatherly, "Two Gentlemen of Verona," which will be the Junior Class play of 1946, given at "Kippity Carnival", time, Feb. 13-14. This tentative cast comprises Mary Rose Carrillo, Leo Richard Connellan, Lorraine Curry, Robert Gattcombe, Carolyn Howard, Harold Look, Don McLeellan, John Sulides, Ramona Niles, Jane Perry, Lucy Rackliff, Gertrude Robishaw, Albert Rogers, Mary Sawyer, Cynthia Tibbetts and Patricia Wellman.

The Special Service of Evening Sermons on "Courtship, Marriage and Home" being delivered by Rev. C. Wendell Wilson, pastor of the Littlefield Memorial Baptist Church are greatly appreciated by the large audiences, and much favorable comment has been expressed. A excellent musical program is arranged with instrumental and vocal numbers. Sunday Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Cassens will furnish the musical program with the following selections, "Trust In the Lord," "I Love My Saviour Dear," "Not Dreaming and Who Could It Be?"

idly enforced will serve to cure the ills of our industrial life. Only good will on the part of all concerned, seeking the welfare of all parties will be sufficient for that.

Camden Y.M.C.A.

General Secretary Means Announces a Forward Looking Schedule

The Camden Y.M.C.A. starts on a new schedule of activities this week, very different from that formerly maintained, General Secretary Albert Means announces.

Membership will be divided into age groups for boys and girls: Cadets will include those from 8 years of age through 11; juniors, 12 years through 14; Intermediates, 15 years through 18; and Seniors, anyone from 18 years of age on. Girls will have their own classes.

The new schedule is designed to promote the threefold purpose of the Y.M.C.A., development of the Spirit, the Mind and the Body.

The Prayer Meeting Group, made up of boys and girls between the ages of 7 and 15 years, will sing, make silent prayers, listen to short Bible readings, a short talk by the leader and once each month will have a social evening. The members will have their own officers and conduct their own business. The meetings will continue until April. Those attending the required number of meetings will be awarded a certificate. The group is interdenominational; no creeds taught.

A few of the features of the Y.M.C.A.'s new program are: Physical Fitness Tests for children between ages of 7 and 15, the passing of which will be awarded by a certificate from the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States. There will be a Fowl Shooting tournament for all age groups; Ping Pong tournaments; dances, new clubs formed such as "Grav-Y" Clubs, Emblem Clubs, Bicycle Clubs, etc. Arrangements are being made to transport the young people to the Snow Bowl once each month. There will be basket ball leagues, Y.M.C.A. and Sunday School basketball leagues; volley ball for men and women. A special committee is being selected for service men's activities; also indoor track and field meets for boys.

The following committees met last week to assist in preparing and endorsing the foregoing program: Program committee, Rev. Henry L. Beukelman, chairman, Percy Keller, Carleton Wood, David Crockett, Shirley Cookson and Robert Laite; religious committee, Adin Hopkins, chairman, Miss Cordelia Barnard, Rev. Henry L. Beukelman, Howard Henderson and Gilbert Henderson.

March Of Dimes

Miss Greer Garson is known in the motion picture industry as "The Lady Who Won 75,000,000 Hearts." It is estimated that that number of moviegoers responded to her 1945 appeal for contributions to the March of Dimes. For the fourth successive year, Miss Garson will ask aid in furthering the treatment of infantile paralysis. Her new film, "Keep Them Playing," will be shown on all local screens during the week of January 20th.

PORCUPINES IN PERIL
Porcupines and other small wild animals cause many thousand dollars' damage to the sweet corn crop in numerous areas in Maine. The Division of Wildlife, of the United States Biological Service, has worked out plans for control. A demonstration area will be established in the vicinity of Hartland in co-operation with one of the canning companies. Porcupines also cause considerable damage to forest trees.

The Young People's Group of the Littlefield Memorial Baptist Church will take charge of the evening service Feb. 3. They have invited the Radio Ensemble of the New England Fellowship to present the program. The Radio Ensemble consists of the Ladies Trio, Rev. Hubert Swetnam, pianist and Rev. Edw. Ellis as speaker. One of the young ladies will play selections on the bells. This will be their second visit to our city. The last time was the Saturday before Christmas and because of that fact many were unable to hear them, so here is a fine opportunity worship with us. The public is welcome to attend.

Charles C. Libby left Monday for Florida where he will enter the University of Miami.

POTATO FARMERS' GOAL
Final goals for crop production for 1946 have been announced by Secretary Anderson of the United States Department of Agriculture. The goal for the guidance of potato farmers is 2,771,400 acres as compared with 2,886,000 acres planted last year.

MECHANICAL SPUD PICKERS
Picking potatoes by machinery is just around the corner. Last Fall three machines of local invention were tried out in Aroostook County. All had their failings, but also had their possibilities. When mechanical potato pickers came into general use smaller crews will be required in the potato fields at harvest time.

Farm Bureau Notes

Agricultural Notes

Plans for the year in connection with the Knox-Lincoln Farm Bureau and the Extension Service are now being arranged by County Agent Wentworth and local committees. Officers for the year are also being selected. Plans this year cover dairy and poultry meetings in the winter, also a county-wide meeting on forestry. During the summer there will be local tours in connection with pasture improvement and buck rakes.

Henry Keller, West Rockport, has made several additions to his dairy barn during the past year. He says that it gives him more room for hay. He is considering adding more tieup room and installing some kind of a ventilating system. Henry Kontio, West Rockport, says his new henhouse is very satisfactory and his pullets laying well.

Director A. L. Deering of the Agricultural Extension Service has announced plans for Farm and Home Week which will be held at the University, March 25-28. The program starts Monday evening with a talk on the United Nations Food and Agricultural Conference at Quebec.

The State Farm Bureau will meet Tuesday, and Tuesday night there will be a special meeting to honor outstanding farmers and homemakers. During Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday there will be talks on various agricultural subjects of interest to both men and women. This week will end with a banquet and dance Thursday night.

The State has bought a blueberry experimental farm in Washington County. It is located on Route One about two and one-half miles from Columbia Falls towards Jonesboro. It will be used by the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station for experimental work on blueberries.

The State of Maine Blueberry Growers Association under the direction of Manager Davis is making many improvements to their store at West Rockport. They plan not only to handle hardware and blueberry equipment but also electrical appliances.

With The Homes

An Extension meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Harriet Jones in Washington, Jan. 18. The subject of the meeting was "Bags and Purse" conducted by the clothing leader, Mrs. Inez Cunningham. Patterns were cut of the purses shown. Eight members were present.

Made Him Homesick

But Col. Olds Was Glad To Receive His Home Paper Overseas

Chaplain's Office, Headquarters United States Army Forces, Middle Pacific, APO 958, San Francisco, Jan. 10:

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—It has been a pleasure and an inspiration to receive The Courier-Gazette during the two years I have been overseas. Sometimes it made me homesick for a baked bean

Mr. Holman's Letter

Former Newspaper Editor Pays The Courier-Gazette A High Compliment

Quincy, Mass., Jan. 23

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—Congratulations to you, Mrs. Fuller and your associates on The Courier-Gazette on 100th anniversary. It has been the connecting link between me and my many dear friends in Rockland and vicinity for more years than I like to confess—for I came to Rockland in 1885 in March, as a child when my father, Rev. W. O. Holman, became pastor of the First Baptist Church, succeeding Rev. Henry A. Hart, whose daughter became my wife in 1884.

I have spent a part of each year in Rockland or Owl's Head, formerly South Thomaston and have maintained my home at Owl's Head for a quarter of a century spending weeks there in the Summer, and hope to come there to live when I retire a few years from now, for there is no place so dear to me as that, nor more beautiful.

I look forward to each issue of The Courier-Gazette for it brings me news of my friends, what they are doing and how the city is progressing—mostly good news, but alas of late years too often sad news of the passing of a dear life long friend. Its coming is a joy and it is an ideal home paper, gathering news of its sons and daughters literally from the four quarters of the globe.

My father's generation has gone, though there are those now living who lived under his preaching, but they are few, very few. Most of my own generation have also gone, but I have seen their sons and daughters grow up and their children coming along to take their places in due course of time, so that I feel at home in Rockland and regard it as my real home.

It is sad that The Courier-Gazette's long time editor, one of the best known of all Maine newspaper men, and who was more widely known than any other, could not have lived to celebrate the 100th birthday of the paper he made to be one of the outstanding newspapers in the country. Be he left behind him an established record that, those now responsible for its conduct, have before them the high standard he established as a guide, which I am happy to state is being carried on as he would have wished. It takes hard work, night and day and much careful thought to produce so good and informative paper and from my 35 years as editor and publisher of daily papers, I feel competent to give an opinion.

Dudley M. Holman.
Chaplain (Col.) U. S. A.

Promoted to Captain

Lt. Edward Gipson who is on terminal leave at his home in Rockland, received notification from Washington recently of his promotion to the rank of captain.

Captain Gipson entered the service in February, 1941, with the 103d Infantry Division and was commissioned a second lieutenant at Tank Destroyer school at Camp Hood, Texas.

He served overseas with the 648th T. D. Battalion in the Seventh Army under Gen. Patch. Captain Gipson has the Pre-Pearl Harbor ribbon, the ETO campaign ribbon with two battle stars and the Victory medal.

At the termination of hostilities in Germany he served with the special police at Nuremberg. While there he saw Herman Goering at the Palace of Justice and also visited the Dachau concentration camp.

He returned to the United States Dec. 6, 1945, and is living with his wife and daughter at 41½ Ocean street. Although he is from Augusta, he intends making permanent residence here as his wife has for the last four years.

MARtha T. BENNER

Martha T. Benner died Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Susie M. Reed in Woolwich. Mrs. Benner was a daughter of Lorenzo and Susanna (Thompson) Wotton of Friendship. She was born in Friendship Oct. 27, 1861. She resided in Bath for several years until a few months ago she lived with her daughter on account of failing health.

Funeral will be at the Mayo Funeral Home in Bath today at 2 p.m. Rev. David L. Wilson will officiate. The body will be entombed, with interment in the Spring at Riverside cemetery Woolwich.

She leaves one daughter, Susie M. Reed, Woolwich; sister, Blanche Dodge of Winthrop, Mass., seven granddaughters and one grandson and several great grandchildren.

supper at one of the circle suppers. Today I have had a call from Chaplain Rasche, who was stationed at Rockland with the Coast Guard. We naturally had an enthusiastic visit about Rockland.

A few days ago I saw both the old Camden and the Belfast tied up only a couple of piers apart. I'd like to be sailing up the Penobscot on one of them right now—or, at least, after the ice is out!

I returned to Hawaii by air on Christmas day, but am eagerly looking forward to a return to Maine in the Spring.

Destruction Of Economy

Before this little article is in print, America will be face to face with a peril that may well lay in ruins the fundamental principles that have made this Republic great.

For weeks now the plain citizen has had his way of life threatened by labor leaders who urge their union members to strike to walk out regardless of who may be crushed or ruined by reason of their acts. Not only are these strikes directed against management but against all public rights and interests. For weeks now, like a great hurricane, the clouds have darkened, the lightning flashed, the thunder roared and now the storm is about to break.

In this crisis the President of the United States has sought to bring to bear his great powers on both contestants. Up to now his intervention has failed, for no such powers have ever been granted to him. He has appointed fact finding boards but to no avail.

Out of a great crowd one day a man called out to Jesus. "Master tell my brother to divide the inheritance with me; but Jesus said, 'Man who has appointed me a judge or arbitrator over you.' Without such power he could not act. Citizens must not blame the President; they should blame themselves. They can have no government that does not come directly from themselves.

The Constitutional powers of the President are revealed in his oath—to preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States. All legislative powers should be vested in the Congress. They alone are the law makers—but all powers not delegated to it, remain in the people.

Congress has the power to make laws to prevent strikes against the public welfare. Citizens alone have power over their legal representatives. Without regard to the merits of these controversies citizens must face the fact of individual responsibility.

William A. Holman.

Educational Club

Memorial Service For Mrs. Rich—High Calibre Papers Presented

The Woman's Educational Club met at the Universalist vestry Friday with an excellent program. Very impressive Memorial services were conducted by Mrs. Emma Bradstreet for the late president, Mary Perry Rich.

Dr. John Smith Lowe gave an outstanding talk on "Applied Science and Applied Religion." He prefaced his remarks by paying a splendid tribute to Mrs. Rich. "Applied science has done great things for the world. Inventions worked out by scientists behind closed doors have touched the life of every man, woman and child in the world. All are living in a closely knit world—in fact just a neighborhood made possible by applied sciences."

Applied science has given to the world the atomic bomb. We marvel at its potentialities for the betterment of the human family, at the same time we shudder at its terrific power of destruction. Science itself stands amazed at its own achievement—scientists tremble with fear in contemplation of this discovery in the hands of a Hitler. America is at the cross roads. Great minds are asking what next?

It is here that applied religion must step forth and take over—unless humanity must perish. Why is applied religion an artificial term? Artificial, indeed, it is if we dwell in same far-off heaven and deal only in platitudes and do not touch the lives of men.

Applied religion is not born and dies in the generating room. It must reach out and touch the lives of everyone. Applied religion must be willing to subordinate theological differences for the good of the human race.

To promote a togetherness around the earth. It must be based on the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. Quoting from Prof. Einstein and Prof. Hutchinson that another war would be an atomic war with man entirely destroyed they advocated a one world super government as the only solution to our problem.

Lieut. Nelson T. Towers spoke on "Education and the Veteran." He pointed out the different approaches to study as employed by the Army and Navy. "Failures there are not accepted facts, the instructors are to blame."

The Army program makes a follow through plan in which the subject is presented each day. No excuse is accepted for infringement of rules or regulations. He spoke of the very poor material that comes to an Army instruction centre, some unable to read or write. Some had never seen a telephone and were afraid of the instrument. Others had never worn shoes. The war has shown us some very glaring deficiencies even in our boasted educational system. "It is a deplorable fact that it takes a terrible calamity to reach so many truths and fallacies. However, great good will evolve from this war."

He said we should not belittle the difficult re-adjustment period the veteran undergoes after his discharge from the service. Most psychiatrists believe there must be a long cooling off period.

President John T. Holden of Nassau College gave a wonderful lecture on "Education for what?" "America has come to the cross roads," he said and in education alone can we hope for the answer. American professors sent to the University of Heidelberg on the 50th anniversary of famous centre of dignity and culture, were terrified to find it had gone definitely Nazi and preceding the invasion of Poland came from that University the proclamation "That all truth is relative to the good of State and must be sub-servient to the State."

In contrast was the speech made at the re-opening of that institution, recently, in which the president said "The hope of Germany lies in its grasp of democratic tenure." Democracy is the hope of the world. "Knowledge is necessary to show man his place in the world."

What is the goal then of knowledge? Democratic society was founded on equality. Liberal education must then develop the body, soul and mind. It must have two purposes:

1. Reveal the student's potentialities.

2. Fit him as a citizen. No form of education should eliminate the "Bread and Butter"
